Tyrone Swift is a private detective hired to find a woman who has disappeared. Soon he finds himself entangled in a case which is far from straight forward. This is The first book of Gretta Mulrooney's I have read and I thoroughly enjoyed it. The story moves along at a nice pace and Tyrone Swift is an interesting and well defined character.

Storyline. On a train travelling through pre-World War II Germany, American heiress Amanda Metcalfe Madvani von Hoffstetter Kelly (Cybill Shepherd) befriends Miss Froy (Dame Angela Lansbury), an older nanny. But when Miss Froy disappears, everyone Amanda asks denies ever having seen her. Eventually, Amanda persuades American photographer Robert Condon (Elliott Gould) to help her search the train, during which they discover that Miss Froy wasn't quite what she seemed.

Hi Everyone! I'm looking for a gripping active case that's covered in an investigative journalism manner. A deep-dive (multi-episode) podcast where they are actively trying to solve the case / chasing leads / online sleuthing. This may be an unpopular opinion on here (based on what I've read), but my favourite podcast to date is Up and Vanished.
